A YELLOW SPRING

Yellow is going to be the colour of the season, if not of the year. Expect to see it and wear it on just about anything – T-shirts, shirts, casual zippered jackets, full sleeve tops, muscle vests and all forms of sportswear, track pants and footwear included.

WHAT TO PICK: Bright shades for casual wear and pale tones for formal and business wear. Metallic hues on ties and in a glossy finish on belts, shoes and other accessories.
COMBINATIONS: Conventionally, yellow works with blue, black, and green and occasionally with other bright colours like orange and red. You can also team yellow with grey and brown.

THE PLUNGING NECKLINE

What's hot: Deep V-neck full sleeve body-hugging tops for casual wear.

WHY: V-neck tops make you look leaner – especially if you have a short or wide neck or a double chin that you want to play down.

COLOURS: Dark when you need to look slimmer and light when you need to look fuller. Black and white are staple favourites, but you could also experiment with and wear all shades of brown, beige and olive green.

LENGTH: Short lengths work a lot better; the sleeves should end just above or at the wrist – and not any lower.

STYLING: Avoid tucking your full sleeve top into your pants, trousers or lowers – they fall a lot better when left out – provided of course, that the length is not, too long.

LIPSTICK ON YOUR COLLAR

What's new: Fitted shirts with short turn up collars that you can wear in two different ways:

UNBUTTON

WHEN: For the day or a relaxed and casual setting.

HOW: Undo the first (or second) button of the shirt. Twist the ends of the collar away from the face, in a sharp and outward direction – without allowing it to touch the base of the shirt.

BUTTON UP

WHEN: A business meeting or an early evening cocktail.

HOW: Fasten all buttons and do not dress the shirt with a tie – most short collars are sharp and smart enough to get enough attention on their own. Ensure the collar looks clean, crisp and well ironed.
